ORIENTAL FORTRESS OF GERMANS AT TSING TAU CAPITULATES TO ANGLO-JAPANESE BESIEGING FORCE

CITY HELD OUT FOR 74 DAYS OF CONSTANT ASSAULT

Official Word of the Downfall of Teutonic Stronghold in the East Comes last Night

TOKIO, Nov. 8.—Tsing-Tau has fallen before the combined attack of the Japanese and British forces. This was officially announced here last night. The bombardment of the fortress had continued throughout the day but the capture of the middle fort of the first line of defense in an infantry charge was what caused the final decision to surrender. In this charge 200 prisoners were taken at the point of the bayonet.

Japs Were Careful
The Japanese had carefully calculated the resistance they might expect from the German garrison and had issued a statement earlier today that the assault on the Itisa, Bismarck and Moltke forts would be postponed until the five forts south of the Hai-po river had been taken. The capture of the city was inevitable as there was no chance for the Germans to get reinforcements.

The bombardment of the defenses of Kiau Chau began on August 24 and the general assault on the Tsing-Tau forts began only a week ago.

The place held out for seventy-four days.

Japan Takes Charge
All doubt of the future of the German concession of Kiau Chau, the most valuable portion of the Shan Hung peninsula, should the allied cause triumph, was set at rest today. Following the official announcement of the capitulation of the fortified city of Tsing Tau, the chief position in the concession, Vice Minister of the Navy Suzuki said:

"For the present Japan must administer the concession. When peace in the European war is declared, then Japan will take up with China the transfer of the concession back to her."

This statement was interpreted as definitely disposing of the rumor that Japan, because it has cost her not less than 2,000 men, three torpedo destroyers and one old cruiser, would demand that China give her title to the captured territory.

Will Hunt German Fleet

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The allied fleets of Japan, Australia, New Zealand and the British Pacific fleet will now hunt down and capture or sink all of German fleets in Pacific waters. The capitulation of the fortress of Tsing Tau releases the entire Japanese fleet and it will co-operate with the British and colonial squadrons now in eastern waters.

The release of the Japanese battleships comes at a most opportune time. Because of the indicated activity of the German war fleet which is now outside of the Kiel canal, with steam up and apparently ready for serious work, the admiralty has not desired to detach any more warships from the home base. The concentration of the Germans off the South American coast shows that they have a naval base somewhere there and this must be demolished and their warships either captured or sunk if British commerce on the Pacific is to continue.

Report Fleet Captured

Tokio had a well defined rumor today that the Japanese squadron which sailed from Easter Island a week ago had surprised and captured the Gneisenau and Scharnhorst, the armored cruisers which defeated Admiral Cradock's squadron off Chile last Sunday. This report as yet lacks confirmation.

BERLIN REPORTS GERMANS SHELL YARMOUTH, ENG.

BERLIN, via The Hague, Nov. 7.—It was officially announced by the German admiralty today that on Nov. 3 three German cruisers shelled the British fortifications at Yarmouth, England.

The above announcement of the Germans gives a new angle to the engagement in the North sea November 3, in which the British lost the submarine U-9. The British admiralty version of the affair was that a group of mine-layers was at work when they were surprised by German light cruisers, and that the Fraternal and Copious were sunk as well as the U-9, which, with a number of heavier vessels, came to the rescue of the mine-layers. If the German story is true, it is probable that the German fleet was much stronger than a fleet of light scout cruisers. It indicates ability on the part of the Germans to get past the blockade of Wilhelmshaven and over to the coast of England. The fleet which shelled Yarmouth may be the one which was repeatedly rumored to have slipped by the blockade and headed for the open sea.

GREATEST VICTORY OF THE WAR IS CLAIMED BY PETROGRAD REPORTS

FOUR HUNDRED AT GERMANIA DANCE IN CHARITY'S NAME

Biggest Function of Social Year in La Crosse Takes Place with Notable Success Last Night

REALIZE $600 FOR THE HOSPITAL

Accurate Figures Are Not Known but It Is Estimated More Than 400 Persons Attended

SETS NEW LEVEL FOR BRILLIANCE

Gowns of Every Hue and Varied Design Give Brilliant Effect to the Function

Four hundred persons, according to estimates this morning, attended the annual charity ball at Germania hall last night, making the affair one of the most successful on record. Always the event of the social season, it is the unanimous opinion today that last night's charity ball reached a higher level of brilliance than almost any previous function.

In the neighborhood of $600 will be turned over to the charity ward of the La Crosse hospital, as a result of the ball, according to the best estimates that could be made today. Accurate figures will not be known until Monday, when the sale of tickets has been checked up.

The committees in charge were delighted with the success of their efforts today. Mrs. George Gordon, the general chairman, said this morning that the attendance was above the average, although she doubted that records had been broken.

"The attendance fell a little behind that of last year," she said, "but was larger than the year before. I do not know, of course, the exact number who were present, but I think there were at least 400. It was a very successful party."

"Mums" Predominate
Germania hall, newly decorated, and spick and span for the occasion, had been beautifully dressed with autumn foliage and flowers. Chrysanthemums were the prevailing motif. Each light of the hundreds in the hall was shrouded in an artificial chrysanthemum, and hundreds of the huge yellow flowers were disposed at effective places. The "mums" were especially remarkable on the

RUSSIAN ARMIES SAID TO BE GOING AHEAD EVERYWHERE

Right Wing Is Announced to Be Well Over the Frontier Into Eastern Prussia

WOLVES DEVOUR THE WOUNDED

Packs of Forest Wolves Ravage Battlefields and Even Attack Isolated Bands of Troops

PETROGRAD, Nov. 7.—All Russia is today celebrating what is officially characterized as the "greatest victory of the war." Official accounts agree that the general advance against Berlin, halted when the Germans invaded Russian Poland in force, has now been resumed. Three great armies are pressing forward. The Russian right wing under Gen. Rennenkampf is reported to have pushed well across the eastern Prussian frontier. Its object will again be Konigsberg. The Russian central army, which decisively defeated the Germans in front of Warsaw, is keeping up its westward movement. In Galicia the Austria-German forces have been defeated all along the line of the San river with the exception of a small section around Przemyśl, which has been screened. The Austrians are falling back on Cracow and the Russians are again headed for this position.

Teuton Losses Large

It is stated here that the losses of the Austro-German armies have been very large in the last three weeks. During the last week it is stated that 15,000 prisoners have been taken including some officers of high rank. The Russians have also captured large quantities of war munitions, cannon, automobile guns and rapid-firers.

The Germans are suffering greatly from lack of proper clothing for cold weather fighting. In the north there have been heavy snows and in the south sleet and cold rains. The entire country is a quagmire. The roads are sloughs of muddy mud more than a foot deep.

The Russians are equipped for meeting such conditions while the Germans are not.

Wolves Ravage Battlefields
Hundreds of wounded on both sides have perished from cold. Of those who could be rescued by the Red Cross many will die, their wounds having become infected. There are many cases of lockjaw. At many points on the desolated battlefields great packs of wolves have

MEXICO GETS ITS FOURTH PRESIDENT IN SIX MONTHS

Eulalia Gutierrez Is Sworn Into Office and Carranza Is Deposed

U. S. TO DEMAND ASSURANCE

Will Require Guarantees of New Ruler Which Were Not Granted by Carranza

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Rafael Subarin, head of the local constitutionalist agency in a formal statement this afternoon branded as "false" reports that Carranza has ordered an attack on American troops at Vera Cruz.

Both Acting Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of War Garrison stated emphatically this afternoon that they have no reports indicating Carranza's forces planned an attack on Vera Cruz. The latest reports from Gutierrez declared that he has promised the protection to life and property demanded by the American authorities at Vera Cruz. Villa reports that he will back Gutierrez.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Three presidents in less than six months is the record of Mexico today. With the swearing into office of General Eulalia Gutierrez by the Aguas Calientes peace conference, Venustiano Villa, once the provisional president and successor of General Huerta, is practically made an exile. The latest reports here say he has departed from his temporary capital of Pueblo to Soledad, in the state of Vera Cruz, and within the shadow of the American army. Another report says Huerta has offered him a "comfortable home abroad."

Agents of the state department, if they have not already received instructions, will probably be asked to negotiate with the new president to insure the safety of foreigners at Vera Cruz, when the American troops leave, and to make satisfactory agreement with respect to the large collection of duties by General Funston at that port.

Carranza is expected to resign and go to Vera Cruz, according to latest advices here. Since it has been impossible for him to carry the Aguas Calientes conference he has been moving his capital gradually toward Vera Cruz.

BRITAIN DECLARES AMERICAN COPPER GOES TO GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Formal notification that Great Britain believes American copper shipments are being sent to Germany by way of neutral ports was given Acting Secretary of State Lansing today by the British ambassador. He declared cargoes held at Gibraltar show that some of these shipments were destined for the Krupps.

HENRY LISO COACHMAN FOR S. Y. HYDE, SR., ARRESTED AFTER IDENTIFICATION OF MURDERED GIRL BY SISTER

MET LISO TO FIX SETTLEMENT FOR GIRL'S TROUBLE SAY HER SISTERS

Relatives Say That Girl Told Them She Was About to Become a Mother and Blamed Liso

NET TIGHTENS ABOUT COACHMAN

Underwear Saturated with Blood and Lower Limbs Cut by Barbs from a Fence Say Police

There was some talk of violence ahead of the day today, but it was unorganized and lacked leadership. A special guard is being maintained at the police station, and there is what appears to be authentic information that Liso has already been spirited out of the city by the police. One story is that he is in the Winona jail. Chief Webber would not affirm or deny the story, absolutely declining to discuss it.

Henry Liso, Sr., aged 45, 1310 West avenue south, for twenty years coachman for S. Y. Hyde, Sr., wealthy retired grain operator residing at West avenue, south, and King streets, is being detained at central police station suspected of 'knowledge of the murder of Petra Solberg, 32 year old domestic employed by Samuel Hyde, Jr., 1224 King street, whose horribly mutilated body was found half submerged in the waters of the La Crosse river yesterday afternoon.

The arrest of Liso followed the positive identification of the corpse by Louise and Anna Solberg, sisters of the murdered girl. They viewed the body at Miller Bros' morgue last night.

He was taken into custody on the strength of information given the police by Anna Solberg.

Hyde Shocked and Grieved
News of the crime came to the Hyde family as a severe shock. Sam Hyde, Jr., could not believe that the man who had been a trusted servant in his father's family for nearly a quarter of a century could have been implicated in a murder. Mr. Hyde, using his own automobile, accompanied Chief Webber during his investigations, leading assistance and whatever information he possessed that seemed to bear upon the case.

According to Anna Solberg, the sister, Petra Solberg, in two months was to become a mother. She had confessed, say the sisters, that Liso, a married man with a family, was responsible for her condition.

Met Her at Night
That Liso met Petra shortly after 8 o'clock Thursday night "to arrange a settlement" of the affair was a further admission of Anna Solberg, who said that the last she had seen of her sister alive was when she left the Samuel Hyde residence at 1224 King street to meet Liso, who was awaiting her with a car at Eleventh and King streets.

Frank Goethe, a young saloonman who conducts a place at 306 South Fourth street, was also taken into custody. He was formerly a sweetheart of the murdered girl. He is being detained but the police have nothing to warrant the assumption that he has any knowledge of how the young woman came to her death.

Afraid of Liso

"My sister called me up late Thursday afternoon," Anna told the police, in the presence of newspapermen, "and asked me to come over to the house. She said that Liso was to meet her to take her to the north side. She said he wanted her to sign some kind of a contract, or something, about a settlement."

"She said that she was nervous and was afraid that something was going to happen and wanted us to be there when he came."

"When we got to the home of young Mr. Hyde—my sister Louise and I—she hadn't finished her work and we waited."

Came by in Auto
"When she came out she said that she was to meet Liso but was afraid to go with him. While we were talking to her an auto passed."

"That's him now," she told us. The car looked like the auto of young Mr. Hyde and a man wearing a gray or light cap was driving it."

"The car stopped at Eleventh and King streets where she told us she was to meet him. I'll go down there

PETRA SOLBERG

Young woman, victim of fiendish murder on South Salem road Thursday night.

What Chief Webber believes to be conclusive evidence of the guilt of Henry Liso was brought to light when an examination of his clothing and person at central police station disclosed the fact that his underwear is saturated with blood.

His limbs are freshly cut. Dr. Flynn maintains the cuts could not have been received later or earlier than the night of the murder. Chief Webber contends that the cuts were made by barbed wire where the body of the victim was dragged through a fence along the road.

Liso's hands and face are covered with fresh scratches believed to be the result of his plunge through blackberry bushes with the body, down the hill to the river. Liso says the cuts were received a week ago when there was a fire in the Hyde residence.

No blood was found on his outer clothing. This, the police assert, he burned.

and see what he wants and you people follow behind me to see what happens," she said.

Disappeared in Auto

"We waited until she had gotten ahead a considerable distance and then followed down. When we got to Eleventh and King the car, the driver and Petra had disappeared. We thought that perhaps they had driven around the block so we waited for a long time. When they didn't appear we walked back to Twelfth and King streets where the elder Mr. Hyde lives. The house was dark, except for a light in the basement. We looked through the windows. Louise thought she saw a man walking in the basement. I looked close and am certain that the man was not in the basement but was walking around the house on the other side. Then we heard an automobile start and drive out of the yard. I am sure there were two people in it and I think that my sister was one of the occupants."

To Give Her $500

Inquiries today develop the fact that the murdered girl had told her mother, Mrs. Bertha Solberg, a widow, 402 Oakland street, that the settlement was to be $500 with which she was to take a trip to Minneapolis and thus cover up her misfortune. It was on Thursday night that she was to meet Liso to effect this "settlement."

That the crime was premeditated is indicated by the fact that on Wednesday Liso took Petra for an auto ride "to talk things over" and pursued the exact route alleged to have been taken by the "murder car" Thursday night. So peculiar were the actions of Liso at that time that Petra told her sister of the affair. She said that Liso had driven her out on the South Salem road where he turned around suddenly and started back to town. The place where the car turned, according to the description of Petra to her sisters, was identical with the spot where blood stains were found along the road and the trail to the body of the dead girl started.

Liso is Taken

Police Chief J. B. Webber immediately dispatched Captain Lawrence Dugan and Detectives McGrath and Fitzsimmons to the home of Liso on West Avenue south. When the officers arrived last night he was cleaning squirrels.

Told that he was "wanted," he made no comment but washed his hands, donned his clothes and accompanied the officers.

Chief Webber, with newspapermen, went to the elder Hyde's residence at Twelfth and King streets, in company with Samuel Hyde, Jr., and made a thorough examination of the premises.

Young Mr. Hyde's car is kept at the home of his father. Chief Webber, after a minute examination of the machine, was confident that blood stains were on the cushions and about the steering wheel.

Blood-Stained Cap
In the barn a light cap, similar to that described by the sister of the victim, was found. On the visor was the faintest tint of red. A pair of autoist's gauntlet gloves were also found in the barn. In the palm of one, inside, was a spot that resembled a blood clot.

Mystery in Basement

What transpired in the basement of the Hyde house at West Avenue south and King street is a mystery, the younger Mr. Hyde requesting that only the chief accompany him on a tour there. Chief Webber after an examination admitted that he had found bloodstains about a stove and that it is believed that the bloody clothing worn by the murderer may have been burned in the basement stove.

"TWILIGHT SLEEP" CAUSES INSANITY?

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A report declaring that the "twilight sleep" treatment which has been used extensively in New York in maternity hospitals, caused insanity, comes from Dr. Minus S. Gregory, alienist, of Bellevue hospital.

Dr. Gregory told of three cases of women who had been brought to the hospital suffering from insanity caused by drugs and the only drugs they had taken were those in fluid used in the "twilight sleep" treatment. The affliction took the form of a delirium, he said, asserting it

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

LARRY'S LIGHTHOUSE

BY JOHN TRENT

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When Larry Delmore was ten years old he had stood on the beach at Quetchet and flung a taunt at the little girl with flaming red hair who had wrinkled her nose at him. "Redhead!" taunted Larry ungalantly. "Lighthouse!" he added, as the little girl pulled her white sun-bonnet over her gorgeous curls and scurried away to her nurse.

"Nurse!" panted Jean. "Am I a lighthouse because my hair is red?" "No—no—Miss Jean," laughed Nurse, looking up from her sewing; "your hair is very pretty, indeed, just like your mamma's; you mustn't mind what that naughty little Delmore boy says."

"I shan't mind a bit," said Jean, comforted; but in spite of her resolution the memory of the taunt lingered and rankled, so that as the years went by she grew positively to dislike the name of Delmore—especially Larry Delmore—and she was always hearing it, although they never met after that summer.

Larry Delmore was the sort of young man whose name is always confronting one. He excelled in everything. He was honor man of his class at college, a famous half-back, the driver of a winning automobile in a famous race, and an aviator, a musician, and last, but not least, an excellent business man.

Jean Lloyd heard of these things in her remote boarding school and later at the fashionable finishing school, but always she discounted his cleverness by her bitter recollection of his taunt that midsummer day fifteen years ago.

"I could never endure him," she told her best friend one day. "He's a horrid, grubby little tow-headed boy! I can fancy just how disagreeable he must be now."

Miriam Smith looked wide-eyed at Jean. "Haven't you met him since then?" she wondered. "Jean took her glorious, ruddy-crowned head."

From his towering height Larry Delmore looked across the hotel ballroom and saw a tall, graceful girl gowned in white. About her snowy throat was twisted a wonderful string of pearls, and save for the high-piled masses of her hair, there was not a bit of color about her.

"Who is that girl?" he asked the first man he met.

The man glanced in the direction indicated by Larry's eager gray eyes. "You mean the one with golden hair?"

"No, no," protested Larry, "the tall girl in white—the girl with auburn hair."

"Oh, you mean Miss Lloyd—Jean Lloyd. May I present you?" "Not just now," decided Larry, and for some inexplicable reason he turned his back on Miss Lloyd's beautiful face and wandered out to the balcony.

"There is something very striking about that girl," thought Larry, plucking at the geraniums in the flower boxes. "Confounded funny feeling I had when Morton offered to introduce me. I wanted to go like the dickens, but—somehow, she had such a haughty poise to her head that I'm ducedly afraid she wouldn't be as charming as she looked. I'm going to find out later."

When he returned to the ballroom Miss Lloyd had disappeared, and he saw her no more that night. By careful inquiry he learned that she and her father were stopping at the Quetchet Hotel for the season.

The next morning he arose with the sun and went down to the ocean for his early swim. He had the beach to himself save for one lone swimmer who was breasting the surf with easy grace. It was a woman wearing a red bathing cap he decided at first. A further inspection revealed that the glistening copper glory was crowning the head of Jean Lloyd and that her head was uncovered.

So Larry plunged into the sea and disappeared like a young porpoise. Larry Delmore was a swimmer of note in addition to his other accomplishments, and when he saw Miss Lloyd's glowing head turned steadily out at sea while the flash of her white arms cut the blue-green surface of the waves like a veritable mermaid, he followed her in the masculine spirit not to be outdone by a mere woman.

But the water was cold that morning and perhaps Mr. Delmore was not up to his usual form; at any rate, he suddenly stopped his long, steady strokes, balanced at the agonizing cramp that seized his thumbs, uttered a low cry of alarm and went down.

The girl heard the cry and turned just as he disappeared. When he came up she was calling to him to hold up—that she was coming—coming! Through the flying spray and the rocking green and white of the waves he caught the glimpse of her red hair and her white face coming nearer.

When he rose to the surface again, still writhing in that awful cramp, it was to see the soiling red of her head close beside him, to feel the support of her arms under his shoulders.

"I cannot carry you in," she panted, "but I can hold you up until help comes. Can you shout?" He nodded and shouted hoarsely. A boat put hastily off from shore and two or three lifesavers took them in.

"I declare if it isn't Mr. Delmore!" marveled one of the men as he applied a flask to Larry's pale lips. Jean, white and exhausted, sat up

"I STOLE HER BECAUSE I LOVED HER," PLEADS NURSE WHO CARRIED OFF BABE

Julia Krasusky and Virginia Gerhard.

"I stole her because I loved her," said Julia Krasusky, nurse, when after a nation-wide search extending over a week she was found with Virginia Lee Gerhard, four-year-old daughter of a wealthy St. Louis manufacturer, at Muskogee, Okla. The nurse has had possession of little Virginia ever since she was eleven days old, the child's mother having died then.

and looked at the young giant she had rescued. Was it possible that this handsome blond youth had been the tow-headed little boy whose taunt had rankled so long? It could not be possible that she, Jane Lloyd, had been the means of saving this champion swimmer's life!

About that time Jean fainted away, and it was a full half hour later in her own room at the hotel that she sat up in bed, warm and dry, and uttered a remark that caused her worried father to stare.

"I suppose I must have looked like a lighthouse to Mr. Delmore," she said.

"Then you are all right, my dear?" asked Mr. Lloyd.

"Right as can be, daddy," she smiled.

It was late in the afternoon when Larry Delmore was admitted to the Lloyd's private parlor to express his gratitude.

Jean, pale and lovely, met him with a curious look in her eyes.

Larry stammeringly expressed his thanks. No man, he declared afterward, could govern his tongue while that vision smiled at him.

"You looked like an angel to me," he finished in a rush of words. "You were a lighthouse of hope, toward which I tried to swim."

Jean laughed merrily. Her eyes sparkled. "Do you know, Mr. Delmore, that this is not the first time you have referred to my hat by calling me a lighthouse?"

"Oh, you don't understand," he protested. "I never thought of your lovely hair. I swear I never saw anything save your eyes, and those are blue. You never heard of a blue light?"

"No, I never did," interrupted Jean, "but I have been on Quetchet Beach before, Mr. Delmore. Fifteen years ago I was a five year old girl with red curls; you were a tow-headed boy who called me a lighthouse because of the color of my hair. I've hated you ever since," she ended calmly.

Larry Delmore stared. "I remember," he confessed. "I was a little duffer in those days. Believe me, Miss Lloyd, I've gotten over it, really! I recollect that you pulled your sun-bonnet down over your curls and you ran away crying. I was ashamed of myself. Why didn't you slap me?"

Jean laughed, and with her laughter went the last flicker of her smoldering resentment toward Larry Delmore.

One morning he went down to the sea again and as it had happened before he saw Jean's head far out in the surf. He plunged into the water.

ITCHED FOR 20 YEARS, RESINOL CURED IN 10 DAYS

Baltimore, Md.—"About twenty years ago both my legs began to itch from ankle to knee. Little pimples came out. The itching and burning was something terrible. I would start to scratch and could not stop. I would even scratch through the skin and that of course would leave a sore which I was compelled to bandage. I tried several prescriptions and treatments, but received not a particle of benefit—no more than if the treatments were cold water. I then began to have very little faith in anything and of course could do nothing but scratch away. After suffering constantly for twenty years, a friend recommended Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. From the very first application, I found relief, and was entirely cured in ten days. The itching and stinging sensations have ceased and my skin is as smooth as a child's." (Signed) Charles Warner, 1123 N. Stricker St. Every druggist sells Resinol Soap (25c.), and Ointment (50c. and $1).

CAMPAIGN LETTER SURPRISES KAREL

Judge in Letter to John P. Salzer Disclaims Knowledge of Note Circulated Here

JUDGE BLAMES HIS OPPONENTS

Says Letter Was Sent Out by Enemies to Hurt Campaign at Last Minute

"I felt certain that Judge Karel had no personal knowledge of the improper use of my name in his campaign," said John P. Salzer today, exhibiting a letter from Judge John C. Karel, democratic nominee for governor, in which the Milwaukee jurist positively disclaims knowledge of the letter in which, over an imitation of Mr. Salzer's signature, voters were urged to get their friends to vote for Mr. Karel, or if they couldn't do that, to stay at home.

Mr. Salzer was much pleased with Judge Karel's denial, which bears out his own conviction that the candidate had no personal knowledge of the decoit.

Karel's letter follows: "County Court Chambers, (Second Division), John C. Karel, Judge, Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5, 1914. "Mr. John Salzer, "La Crosse, Wisconsin. "Dear John:—

"This morning mail brought me your letter of the 4th inst. with enclosures, and you can readily imagine how chagrined I was to learn some of the tactics employed during the recent campaign.

"I have at no time injected politics into my fraternal life and activities, and in fact during the entire two campaigns refrained from visiting the club rooms of my various fraternities, for fear that it would appear that I was trying to win some votes.

"I have not the slightest idea who would undertake to send out from this city a letter signed by you, especially without your permission, and in justice to both yourself and myself I will make every possible effort to determine where this letter emanated from. I trust, however, that knowing me as you do, you will believe me when I say that I am entirely innocent in the matter, and if similar letters have gone to the boys and friends in La Crosse you will favor me by correcting any erroneous impression that they may possibly have in the matter.

"There was much literature which on the face of it apparently was sent out by the democratic headquarters or my friends and intended for my benefit, which was really the product of my enemies and designed only to harm me, and I feel that the literature which you have sent me is just another one of those despicable cases. However, I feel that you will absolve me from any er and soon came up with her. They faced each other in the golden glory of a new day.

"Jean," he said quietly, "I'm going to call you my lighthouse once more. You have shown me a safe harbor of love; the light of your eyes has guarded its entrance. Shall I have a safe voyage home?"

And the steady glance of her eyes wavered for a moment and then met his fairly. Their first kiss was bathed in the golden rays of the rising sun.

OFFER PRIZE FOR GRAND-DADDY TREES

Forests of the United States are interested in the announcement recently made by the American Genetic Association that two prizes of $100 each have been offered for two photographs—one of the largest tree of a nut-bearing variety in the United States, and one of the largest broad-leaf tree which does not bear edible seeds. In the first class, for example, are included trees such as chestnut, oak, walnut, butternut, and pecan, and in the second, trees such as elm, birch, maple, cottonwood, and tulip poplar. No photographs of cone-bearing trees are wanted.

It is assumed by the association that seed from the region where the largest trees grow ought to produce larger and stronger trees than from regions where only small trees are found.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifying and darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

She Worried Because Her Feet Were Too Big.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Something For Dotty Duck to Worry About.

"OLD Dotty Duck was always worrying," began daddy as the children snuggled up for the evening story.

"She worried because her feet were too big for her slender ankles; she worried because she toed in; she worried because her tail wasn't beautiful like the peacock's."

"Poor Daffy Drake, Dotty Duck's husband, had a terrible time of it trying to soothe Dotty."

"He told her how beautifully she could swim and how graceful he thought her walk was and how her voice was sweeter to his ears than any voice could possibly be, for, of course, Daffy Drake loved Dotty Duck very, very much and wished her to be happy."

"When the little ones came out of their shell Dotty worried about them, for they, too, had big feet."

"Again poor Daffy came to the rescue and told Dotty how finely her babies could swim and what lovely voices they had, just like their pretty mamma."

"But all his flattery was in vain. Then he hit upon a scheme. He got some hens' eggs for Dotty to set upon and hatch. 'Now,' chuckled Daffy to himself, 'Dotty's babies will have pretty feet and nice voices and perhaps beautiful feathers, and then she will be happy.'"

"After three weeks the fluffy, pretty little things were hatched, and Dotty was delighted with her new babies. Their little feet were lovely, and they had the cutest way of saying 'Cheep, cheep.'"

"So Dotty sent for all her friends to come and see her and watch her babies take their first lesson in swimming."

"It was to be a gala day, and each little baby was primped and perked up to within an inch of its little life."

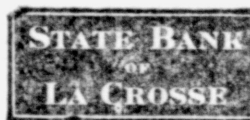

"The guests all arrived, and Dotty Duck quacked and quacked delightedly as they told her how pretty her babies were."

"Then they all marched toward the duck pond—Mamma Duck and all the company, with Papa Drake bringing up the rear, quacking so with fear that he couldn't quack because he knew the trick he had played on his trusting wife."

"They reached the pond, and Mamma Duck tried to shoo her babies into the water."

"Alas and alack, the chicks couldn't swim!"

"Then such a wall went up from Dotty Duck, for now she really had something to worry about."

CLEAR WAY FOR REOPENING OF THE COTTON EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—After first deciding to withhold his decision in the case of the S. H. P. Pell company's bankruptcy, Judge Mayer in the United States federal court, signed an order permitting the 80,000 bales of unliquidated Pell cotton to be taken over by the cotton corporation which has assumed charge of the defunct company's affairs at not less than nine cents.

It is believed here that this decision clears the way for early reopening of the cotton exchange.

BEFORE KAISER AND CZAR WENT TO WAR

Czar Nicholas (left) and Kaiser Wilhelm.

This interesting photograph of the Kaiser and the Czar en route to the hunt was made on the outskirts of Berlin during the last visit of Nicholas to Germany, before the two rulers had the faintest idea that within a short period they would be engaged in a desperate struggle. It would be interesting to see what would happen should these two rulers be placed in the same carriage at the present time.

RECOUNT SHOWS BUT FEW CHANGES

Jolivet and Ritter Gain Few Votes Over Schulze and Derr Who Demanded Recount

Instead of changing the vote of the recent election in favor of E. H. Derr, republican candidate for sheriff, and E. O. Schulze, republican candidate for county clerk, the recount of the Eighth ward, and the towns of Campbell, Barre and Shelby show an increase in votes for the democrats.

No changes have been found in the recounting of the Eighth ward.

The town of Barre shows a gain of four votes for Jolivet and two for Ritter.

Jolivet gained four in the town of Campbell and Ritter gained two. The town of Shelby count showed no change.

CHARLES BOTCHER IS INSTANTLY KILLED IN RUNAWAY TODAY

FIVE RUNAWAYS CAUSE A DEATH

Uncontrollable Team Strikes Botcher's Wagon and Hurls It Down Embankment

BOTCHER DIES ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

Four Teams Start Mad Race Towards La Crosse when Fright Starts: Two Wagons Overturned

Running wild at top speed along the narrow causeway between La Crosse and La Crescent, Minn., this morning a team of horses dragging a heavy farm wagon dashed into four other farm wagons, throwing two of them over the high embankment and killing Charles Botcher, aged 50, prominent South Ridge, Minn., farmer, and slightly injuring others.

Following are the names of the farmers driving teams which ran away:

Charles Botcher, South Ridge, Minn., killed when his wagon was hurled into ditch.
John Gordes, North Ridge, Minn., the team which started the five runaways.
Benjamin Tieke, North Ridge, Minn., barely escaped going into ditch.
Charles Radke, South Ridge, Minn., stopped his team by holding his horses by their bits.

Leonard Ender, South Ridge, Minn., spilled twenty-five bushels of potatoes when his team bolted for a half mile, and finally ran off the road.

Dies Enroute to Hospital

An automobile passing at the time, picked Botcher up and carried him to the Lutheran hospital. No physician was available on the road, and Botcher died as the machine neared the hospital. His body was removed to the Botcher home.

The five teams were on their way to La Crosse.

Ender, Botcher, Tieke and Radke were not driving far apart. They had met in La Crescent. Gordes was far behind and had whipped up his horses to join the quartet.

As his team neared the others, the horses shied at a piece of paper in the road and Gordes lost control of them.

Botcher was the last of the four in front of Gordes, and his was the first wagon to be struck. When the first team became uncontrollable, the other teams lost their heads and all started a mad race towards La Crosse.

Crushed Under Wagon

As Gordes struck the Botcher wagon, it threw it to the edge of the embankment, tipping it over. Botcher's body was crushed by the heavy framework and by the contents.

CANADA PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR'S CROP

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 7.—The Canadian government, through Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works, Ottawa, is preparing to see to it that no section of western Canada shall suffer in spring through any failure of farmers to be provided with seed grain. The department believes there is a supreme necessity for producing next year the largest grain yield in the history of Canada and those districts which have suffered through drought and other causes will be supplied with all seed grain required by the government.

GERMANS TRY TO BLAST PATH TO BELGIAN COAST

Baffled in Assaults They Have Opened Fire with Heavy Artillery

KAISER IN SUPREME COMMAND

Said to Be Constantly Moving Along Lines Encouraging His Troops

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Baffled in their attempts to carry the strong allied positions blocking the way to the coast, the Germans are today utilizing their artillery in the hope of blasting an avenue through the opposition. Hundreds of heavy guns are reported in action along the line from Pres to south of Arras. A perfect hail of exploding shells is being directed against the allies who, however, are well protected by deep bomb shelters.

Reports here say that the Kaiser actually is in supreme command. He is declared to be constantly moving from point to point along the line of conflict, encouraging, cajoling, threatening, as the case seems to require, but always endeavoring to stimulate with his presence the bravery of his men. The German reserves are being distributed preparatory to another attack which will certainly follow when the fury of the artillery bombardment slackens.

The attempt of the Germans to overwhelm the Belgians who have been holding the right bank of the Yser from Nieuport to Lombardzyde has been repulsed. It is officially admitted that reinforcements reached the Belgians just in time. The allied front has again been completely established from the coast to Dixmude and a counter offensive by the Germans south of Dixmude has been repulsed by the marine brigade and its heavy guns. The French, who drove the Germans back from the vicinity of Dixmude have advanced some distance to the east of that line.

Fun for Phonograph Owner.

A remarkably curious experiment may be performed with any ordinary phonograph, the Strand says. The sound box is reversed, so that the needle slopes the other way, enabling the disk to be turned backward by the finger being placed near the center. The effect produced is extremely astonishing. You hear the human voice singing songs backward; you hear the harmony of Wagner backward; plain English language sounds like a Chinese language. The most remarkable effect is perhaps to play a chime of bells in this reversed manner. The sound rushes up and up—but there is never a single strike or clash of a bell; the strike on the ear is reversed, and is nothing but a sharp "cessation of sound."

Turning sharply to the left at the corner of Twelfth and Main streets to avoid hitting another automobile, Ronald Valier's car was struck and turned on its side, and Valier buried underneath. Valier is the son of Peter Valier, 1525 Main street. He is not fatally injured although his entire body is bruised and one shoulder is badly cut. The accident occurred at 9 o'clock this morning.

According to the Rybold-Weihaup Auto company, the automobile which struck Valier's car was driven by Albert Elow, Bangor.

Elow did not stop when the accident occurred, but continued south on Twelfth street.

Witnesses of the accident say that Valier was driving at moderate speed in a westerly direction on Main street, keeping to the right side. He was about to cross Twelfth street when the Elow car approached from the north. Valier is said to have slackened his speed, thinking the other car would pass him.

Elow proceeded swiftly, according to those who saw the accident, and struck Valier as he turned sharply to the left to avoid striking him.

Elow's car is said to be a Maxwell, of high power. Valier was driving a Hudson.

Persons rushed to the overturned auto, lifting it, and taking Valier from underneath. He was not unconscious, but thoroughly dazed.

Besides the fact that he told his father he tried to avoid striking the other machine, and that he believed the driver did not try to avoid him, he could tell nothing.

The collision came so suddenly, that Valier's car was hurled on the boulevard adjoining the sidewalk. The machine was placed on its wheels and taken to a repair shop.

Peter Valier, the young man's father, blames the driver of the Maxwell for not stopping when he struck Valier.

Although the police have investigated the accident, no complaint has been issued against the driver of the Maxwell car.

In the Realms of Literature.
"What you want to do in writing short stories," said the practical publisher, "is to imitate the slapstick style of Gussie Gazooks. Have you read Gussie's latest?" "Yes," replied Mr. Penwidge. "I read Balzac for pleasure and Gussie Gazooks as a matter of education."

"BLOOD WILL TELL"
The Heroes of the war.

"Blood will tell," is an axiom that in all the ages has never been gained. Every man who does a brave, heroic act carries within his veins a quality of blood that urges and sustains him. No matter whether he inherits it from a long line of famous ancestors or from the sound and healthy constitution of his immediate parents, whose only distinction is honorable toil and a simple, virtuous life.

It matters little where or how you obtain it, but it matters all the world that by some means you possess good blood. Good blood is first, last and always the making of manly men and womanly women. It is the source of all courage, virtue and happiness.

A new man can be made out of one that's "used-up," bilious and dyspeptic. It's done by Dr. Pierce's "Genuine Medical Discovery." It starts the torpid liver into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, cleanses, repairs, and strengthens the system, and restores health and vigor. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, and builds up flesh and strength. It's the only Blood and Liver Remedy that's guaranteed, in every case, to benefit or cure. If it doesn't do all that's claimed for it, the money is promptly refunded. It keeps its promises—that's the reason it can be sold in this way.

It is not a secret remedy for its ingredients are printed on wrapper.

You only pay for the good you get.

"Discovery" strengthens Weak Lungs, relieves Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, bound in cloth, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of wrapping and mailing only. Address Doctor Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

STILL ADVANCING IS BERLIN'S WORD ON SITUATION TODAY

Say Germans Are Gaining Slowly in Face of Tremendous Opposition

DENY RUSSIAN VICTORY STORY

Tale of Austrian Rout on San River Is Denied by Vienna Authorities

ADMIT WITHDRAWAL AT POINTS

Made Necessary to Frustrate General Enveloping Move of Muscovites

BERLIN, Via The Hague, Nov. 7.—The war office in today's official statement declared that the fighting in France and Belgium continues practically unchanged, with the German armies gaining ground very slowly in the face of tremendous opposition. The most noticeable gains are declared to be in the neighborhood of the Meuse.

It is stated that advances from Vienna say that the Austrian offensive is being strongly maintained. At certain points it has been necessary to withdraw the advanced line in order to frustrate a general enveloping movement attempted by the Russians, but at no point has there been any general retreat. Vienna denied the Russian claim that the Austrian forces have been defeated with heavy losses along the San river.

Advices from Constantinople say that the bombardment of the Dardanelles continues with practically no real damage.

KING ALBERT IS MOST POPULAR OF BELGIAN OFFICERS

Loved by troops because of Democracy and Sympathy for the Army

INCIDENT SHOWS HIS ATTITUDE

Tears Come Into Eyes when He Sees Battle Torn Regiments with No Food But Dry Bread

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

HAZEBROUCK, France, Oct. 20—

(By Mail to New York.)—In a little village just across the border from here I saw today, walking through the drizzle, a man who will probably come out of this war with the most lasting reputation of any engaged in it: King Albert of Belgium.

Fresh from the trenches where he has scorned death and patted his fighting soldiers on the shoulders, with the cheers of his enthusiastic men in his ears, his long, rather English face wore the expression of one who had suffered a great deal and who was ennobled by his sufferings.

Most Popular Officer

King Albert is the most popular officer in the army. The soldiers in the trenches say so and they are not given to flattery just now. For instance, one soldier told me that the average Belgian officer is a "parlor officer"—at his best on dress parade—yet this same man also told me there was not a man in the army who would not die for King Albert. Nor is it blind devotion to a mysterious "his majesty" about whom the common people know little. King Albert is loved because he is known rather than because he is not.

Weeps for Troops

"One day," a grenadier told me with a certain pride betraying itself in his voice, "we were sitting by the roadside eating our first meal of the day, which happened to be dinner. We had been holding the Germans in check since daylight and were tired and hungry. All we had to eat, however, was very dry bread. The king rode up alone and when he saw what we were eating, tears came in his eyes. I do not think I ever saw a man look so sad before. 'My poor comrades,' he said, shaking his head, 'Just dry bread.' 'It tastes mighty good to us,' said a soldier next to me. 'You are right,' replied the king. 'There are worse things to eat than dry bread, eaten for honor's sake.'"

Shakes Troopers' Hands

"What he said and the way he said it sounded like something from the bible," the grenadier continued. "Nobody said a word. Nobody shouted 'Long Live the King,' or anything like that. Only the man who had said the dry bread tasted good walked up and held out his hand. The king took it quickly and shook it hard. The man fell back, wiping his eyes. Then the whole group crowded around and shook the king's hand. He seemed happier as he rode away."

KANSAS CITY FIRE GETS STOCK YARDS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7.—A quarter of a million dollars loss was the estimate today of the damage done by a fire which swept one-third of the stock yards here during the night. Smoker's carelessness is believed to have been the cause. A fortunate shift of wind at midnight aided the firemen materially. Four thousand steers and 3,000 calves were driven safely through tunnels under the Missouri Pacific tracks and saved.

BANK STATEMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The week's bank statement showed the following changes over last week:

Surplus, reserve, increased $99,600.
Loans, decreased $12,549,000.
Specie, decreased, $48,000.
Legal tenders, increased $2,536,000.
Net deposits, increased $3,364,000.
Circulation, decreased $12,104,000.
Aggregate cash reserve, total, $450,038,000.

Solid Stuff.

"I see where a man wants a divorce from his wife because she gives him nothing but frankfurters for breakfast." "I don't blame him. The frankfurter satisfies hunger, but as a palate tickler it's a dismal failure."

"BOIL THE MILK" IS WARNING OF MEDICAL SOCIETY

Even Butter and Cheese from Infected Cows Can Cause Damage Says Health Expert

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—"Boil the milk" was the warning sounded to all milk users in the ten states now under quarantine because of the foot and mouth disease, by the Chicago Medical society today.

"The unprecedented spread of the foot and mouth disease compels the use of all precautions in the use of milk," said the medical society in a bulletin. "We have resolved to warn all users of milk to boil all milk used, even though food value is lost thereby, until all danger from the disease is stamped out."

Butter and Cheese Dangerous

Dr. George B. Young, city health commissioner, declared today that the disease is communicable to human beings through the use not only of milk but of butter and cheese from infected cows.

Meat prices began mounting higher today, following the closing of the Chicago Stock Yards and several smaller stock yards over the country.

TEACHER AND FOUR DIE IN GRASS FIRE

Leave Schoolhouse Which Was Untouched and Are Overtaken Struggling to Reach Ploughed Field

DICKINSON, N. D., Nov. 7.—Miss Gladys Hollister, a teacher of a country school near here and four of her pupils are dead and two other pupils are dying, following a prairie fire that swept this part of the state, doing damage amounting to thousands of dollars. The little country school, which they deserted as unsafe to make a frantic effort to reach a ploughed field, stands undamaged and would have been their haven had they remained in it.

Five of the kiddies ran toward their homes out of the path of the fire. They escaped. The teacher and seven little comrades struggled on toward the ploughed field, stumbling and falling as they were overcome by the dense smoke. Within four rods of the ploughed field their bodies were found, huddled together.

Just before dying in the arms of a mother of one of the children who died by her mistake, Miss Hollister regained consciousness to plead: "I know I erred. May God and you forgive me."

EXPECTS WAR TO LAST THREE YEARS

Jerome K. Jerome.

Jerome K. Jerome, the noted English author and playwright, who is in this country on business connected with the American production of his books and plays, ventures the opinion that the present war will last at least eighteen months and possibly three years. "It will never end," said he, "until the British forces march into Berlin. It will take the world at least three centuries to recover from this war."

CHARGE TAX DODGING BY WEALTHY FOLK IN CHICAGO

Assistant State's Attorney Declares at Opening of Probe That Fifty Million Has Been Stolen

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Sensational charges of tax-dodging by wealthy persons in Chicago, with the aid of political friends, were made before County Judge Owens when an inquiry into the tax situation that is expected to consume six months, was opened. Assistant State's Attorney Berger charged that $50,000,000 has been stolen from Cook county alone by tax dodgers.

Books from the office of the board of assessors, showed that in 1913 and 1914 the late Darius Miller, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad paid taxes on a personal property valuation of only $5,000. Yet an inventory on his estate filed Oct. 27, 1914, in the probate court, showed that his personal property at the time of his death was valued at $168,198.10.

Call It a "Tub Cure" in Fredonia.

Every Monday morning one can see scores of Fredonia's fair sex disporting themselves in the new tub cure. The process is described by the Fredonia Herald as follows: "One arises before six in the morning, fills a tub with hot water and then taking all the soiled linen of the household, dumps it promiscuously into the water. Then a bar of soap and a washboard are brought into play. The linen is rubbed up and down with a brisk motion until the arms and face are a rosy pink. If perspiration can be brought to the surface of the skin so much the better. When all the linen is so rubbed it should be rinsed in cold, clear water. This exercise is good for the complexion and should be done at least once a week."—Kansas City Star.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctor pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Work a Watch Does.

Out of sight, out of mind, is particularly true in regard to the mechanism of a watch, and even those interested in mechanical matters seldom consider the amount of work performed by this useful little piece of machinery. Take the balance wheel, for example. In the average watch this vibrates 300 times a minute, 18,000 times each hour, 432,000 times a day and 157,788,000 times a year. As each vibration covers about one and a half revolutions, the shaft on which the balance wheel is mounted makes 236,682,000 revolutions; and, running at the rate of a mile a minute, without stopping, it would take 633 days, or nearly two years for the axle of the drive wheel of the locomotive to make as many revolutions as the balance wheel shaft of the watch does in one year, and it would cover a distance of over thirty-nine times around the world.

London a Junk-Shop City.

I suspect that the great charm of London for us Americans is that it has not been improved yet, and is still considerably a second-hand city. The fine junk-shop atmosphere of it was a politeness to my spirit. New York, what one sees of it, is so new. Our whole blessed country is so new—so much newer than it was when I first began to notice it. It seems as if four-fifths of it, as I knew it 50, 40, 30 years ago, had either been scraped bodily and carted off, or else altered, rebuilt, planted out, built out, or abandoned. Who can have associations with anything in a land so terribly exposed to improvement as ours is? What is there left of what we had when we were young except the Bible, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, and Improvers have revised the first and flouted the next and daily denounce the last as the chief obstacle to "progress."—E. S. Martin, in Scribner's.

From the opening date, capacity business has been a daily occurrence. At the Walnut St. theater, Philadelphia, thousands of people were actually turned away, unable to secure admission. The same thing occurred at the Colonial theater, Baltimore, and the Liberty theater, Philadelphia. The entire press of Philadelphia and Baltimore were unanimous in praise of Foibles.

The dictionary informs us that a foible is "a moral weakness, a weak point." If this be true, one of the moral weaknesses of that most famous Bakimorean, Edgar Allen Poe, was that he was inordinately proud of his feet and slept with his cat. But other well-known American literary men had their foibles as well as Poe. Nathaniel Hawthorne always washed his hands before reading a letter from his wife, and delighted in looking over old advertisements in the newspaper files. Longfellow only cared for walking either at sunrise or sunset, while Oliver Wendell Holmes always carried a horsechestnut in one pocket and a potato in another to ward off rheumatism. But as "half our misery from our foibles springs," why continue the sad tale?

Reports Tell of Suffering in Belgium

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—From the Belgian Bible Society, by way of the American Bible Society, come reports of terrible suffering in Brussels, Charleroi, Ghent, Ostend and Bruges, of houses demolished, of schools closed, of children starving, and even of people being burned. The Rev. L. Vatal, secretary of the Belgian society, escaped to England, and from there issues an appeal through the American society for help, not for his work for that is destroyed for the moment, but for women and children without food. The part of his work which he would help on his return if possible is the distribution of Bibles among soldiers who he says ask for them in great numbers.

The American Society, endorsing the appeal of Belgium, states that its own finances are far from satisfactory owing to war conditions, but adds that it must do what it can to help Belgium and the Belgian Society. Secretary Vatal writes of having seen 117 burned homes in one village, 115 in another, and that on the road leading into Charleroi he counted 250 burned houses, poor and rich having fared the same. A hall in Charleroi, formerly barred to his society because controlled by religious liberals, was cheerfully let after war came on, showing the change in public feeling, and it has since been converted into a hospital. The Belgian secretary refrains he says, from recital in detail, so awful were the experiences he went through before his escape to England. In spite of all, however, he declares he is to return at once, and hopes to have relief supplies, to take back with him. These supplies he would have included, if possible, Testaments for men in the trenches.

War Affects Money Receipts but Slightly

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The war injured money receipts by Methodist Episcopal benevolent boards, but not as greatly as was feared. Books are just closing, ready for Methodist rallies in Boston and Portland, Me., to which cities Methodist leaders of the country and thousands of New England Methodist laymen will go within the next few days. Methodist work for colored people has just held its meeting in Providence, and the foreign work starts its meeting in Brooklyn on November 7. Methodist foreign work handles about $1,450,000 a year, and now expects to end its year hardly more than $50,000 behind, if so much, because of the war and financial times. Methodist home work, which includes Methodist extension, handles $1,250,000 a year and has had a hard struggle. Nevertheless indications are that it will report as favorably as the foreign. Other benevolences fare as well.

Episcopal Church Has Nine New Bishops

This fall the Episcopal church has no fewer than nine new bishops to consecrate and set at work. In some other years priests elected have declined almost to a man but this year, for some reason, none declined. The Rev. Dr. Paul Matthews of Minnesota accepts his election to New York, the Rev. Thomas C. Darst of Virginia promptly accepts election to East Carolina, and the Rev. Dr. W. T. Sumner of Chicago consents to go to Oregon, although by so doing he gives up in the city named one of the most important works in the Middle West. Next Tuesday the Rev. Dr. W. F. Faber is consecrated in St. John's church, Detroit. Bishop Coadjutor of Montana, and in Richmond, the Rev. Dr. Wm. Cabell Brown has just been consecrated Bishop Coadjutor of Virginia.

Others awaiting consecration, since it is understood that all accept their elections, include the Rev. Hiram R. Hulst of New York for work in Cuba, the Rev. Dr. Herman Page of Chicago who goes to Spokane, the Rev. Paul Jones, who succeeds the late Bishop Spalding, killed recently by an auto, as Bishop of Idaho, and the Rev. H. C. Hunting of California, who goes to the struggling field of Nevada. There will be elected soon a new Bishop Coadjutor of Vermont, where Bishop Weeks has just died, and applications for coadjutors are now pending in Kansas and Tennessee. Not even in General Convention years, when that body elects missionary bishops, has the Episcopal church before had such an unprecedented number.

Wit of Sages, Folly of Clown,

Stolen Gems from Humor's Crown.

Not a Necessity

Ethel, the 6-year-old member of a very poor family, was told by her father that she had a new baby sister. "Isn't that splendid?" he asked. But hard lessons of the "high cost of living in these war times" had taken root in the young lady's mind and she answered solemnly: "Well, daddy, I s'pose it's all right, but it seems to me there's a lot of things we needed more."

George's Shortcoming

The superintendent of a Sunday school was giving the older boys a talk on business success. "Be industrious, my boys, and you will succeed. Be loyal to your employer; never look at the clock; put the firm's interest before your own, and success is sure to come. You remember, do you not, the great difficulty George Washington had to contend with?" "Yes, sir, yes, sir!" the boys shouted. "And what difficulty, what almost insuperable difficulty, nearly crippled the great George?" "He couldn't tell a lie!" chorused the lads.

Polite, But Pointed

A stern old priest had issued to his people a command against the modern dances, believing them to be a device of the devil. A few of the young people disobeyed and attended a dance given at a neighboring town. Finally it reached the ears of the priest, and, meeting one of the culprits on the street one morning, said in a stern voice:

"Good morning, child of the devil!"

"Good morning, father!" smilingly answered the pretty miss.

THE CHARM OF MOTHERHOOD

Enhanced By Perfect Physical Health.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WOGGLE BUGS BEAT COMETS

The second series of games in the Business Men's volleyball ball league were played Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. The Woggle Bugs defeated the Comets by scores of 11-5, 11-10 and 10-11. The Allies fell before the Giants by scores of 10-11, 7-11 and 11-3 while the Meteors beat the Braves in two out of three games, the scores being 9-11, 11-4 and 11-0, the last game a shutout. In handball, Larson and Bradish defeated Gran and Ciller by scores of 21-17, 21-13 and 21-7.

New York to Have Church News Building

New York is to have a Church News building, to be the publicity headquarters for the city and in large part for the nation of all religious bodies and of all forms of their work. Patrons of this service are not, as many suppose, the religious weeklies, but the daily newspapers, especially those of largest circulation and widest influence in the principal cities. The attitude of editors of daily newspapers toward church news has changed radically within the past few years, certainly within the past ten years, and church news, as not formerly, is now put on the same basis as other news, political not excepted.

The new publicity headquarters in New York is a development and growth of the Church News Association, which began fifteen years or more ago, in a very modest way to supply Church news of all bodies to daily newspapers. To a small extent the Association has been assisted by gifts from Christian leaders, both Protestant and Catholic, but its success has been due to financial support through the purchase of Church news, at regular rates, by the newspapers that printed it. In other words, the business has developed on sound financial lines. The Church News Building soon to be opened is quite near Madison Square, and will contain a few offices of related Christian agencies. The purpose is not merely publicity but eventually to create a religious headquarters building, such as London affords, but so far New York lacks. The building will be put in use on January 1, next.

HEALTH

CONCERNING VOICES

By SMILEY BENTON, M. D. (Department of Public Speaking, University of Wisconsin.)

EDITORS NOTE: The first voice clinic ever established by a state university has been opened in Madison by the University of Wisconsin. Dr. Smiley Benton is in charge of the clinic. It will help students to improve their speaking voices and to cure speech defects. Dr. Benton has prepared a series of three articles for our readers telling them about the voice of the average citizen and how to improve it.

The majority of people think of the voice as a little "something" located up in the throat some place and entirely unrelated to other parts of the human machine. Some people think of it as a sort of thermometer by which the general condition of the body may be gauged, but almost nobody realizes that incorrect uses of the voice are the direct cause of numberless unpleasant physical conditions.

The idea that because we can make ourselves understood from childhood on with more or less success we are therefore "qualified to speak" is entirely erroneous. Fortunately most of us do achieve a fair amount of control over our vocal mechanism but it is a pretty well accepted fact that the ordinary things such as walking, sitting, breathing, speaking, the things that we do automatically, are the things that we do the poorest.

Four Hundred Tongue Wags Speech originates in the highest brain centers, and is caused by breath passing between the vocal cords and through properly placed channels which we form in our mouth. It is computed that there are four hundred movements of the tongue in a minute of average speech, and the nicety of the adjustment of the vocal cords can hardly be conceived. A whole octave may be sung or spoken with only a barely perceptible movement.

Indeed the nerve and muscular adjustment are of the finest and the finer the necessary adjustment, the more minute the mal-adjustment which may cause trouble and even permanent disability. A public speaker or preacher or teacher who uses the voice incorrectly may find nervous prostration upon him with hardly an indication of the real trouble though there is often a warning hoarseness or sore throat. It does very little good to go to a physician for relief from a bad throat if the cause remains, and it is certainly a great wrong to the physician. The general practitioner may be the man who should start on you—build up your general condition—and the throat specialist may get a whack at you, but unless somebody comes along and shows you the way in which to breathe and now to relax the strain on the exhausted and abused nerves and vocal cords adapting the fine mechanism to the demands, it will be much like fighting the smoke and doing nothing to the source of the flames.

Should be Forestalled Of course, to make an Irish Bull, it is better to correct the condition before it arises. The wonders and beauty of a sweet, well modulated speaking voice can never be overestimated.

America has been fortunate this winter in having the opportunity of hearing on its stage the two Englishmen whose reputation for the use of their voices in ordinary conversation cannot be excelled, Sir John Gielgud and Mr. Cyril Maude. And the pleasure given by them was not so much in the purity of their diction, as it was in the perfect ease and feeling of power back of their tone production. Needless to say, they were both trained men. To neither did this gift come unaided. The most of us have listened so long to raucous voices that our poor ears really do not know any better.

Perhaps the first conservative who marched out of the ark thought that just because he could "fling 'de language," as Uncle Remus says, that he could not be taught any more about it, but fortunately the day of cultured people is at hand when every one looks himself in the face and at least asks himself a pertinent question or two.

U. S. REPORT LANDS ON TURTLE SERUM

The "cure" for tuberculosis which aroused such a sensation in this country when Dr. F. E. Friedman, the Berlin physician, came here in the spring of 1913, has just been made the subject of a report by the United States Public Health Service.

The report details merely the medical observations made on certain patients, and laboratory studies on the culture used by Dr. Friedman, and refers to the moral peculiarities of the doctor only sufficiently to make it clear that it was his own fault that the investigation was not continued longer and upon a greater number of suitable cases.

A long series of experiments with the bacteria used by Dr. Friedman, is reported, which show that the germ is different from the varieties of tubercle bacilli commonly known at the present time, and that far from making small animals more resistant to tubercular infection, it made the majority of those inoculated more susceptible. The report is therefore in line with other reports coming from scientific sources here and abroad, which have refuted Dr. Friedman's claims to the discovery of a specific cure for tuberculosis.

It would be a great convenience to some men if they could hibernate.

ease of still unknown nature called white pickle. Those terrible troubles not already worked out are being investigated by the State experiment stations in Wisconsin, Michigan, and New York, or by the United States Department of Agriculture, and a plan is being formulated jointly by these institutions to carry aid to the growers in case of a recurrence of the disease next year.

It will have to be proved by experiments whether or not spraying will be generally profitable. The Department of Agriculture points out to the farmers that a long rotation of crops is an important precaution which should be practiced by all. There is no evidence that these diseases are spread through the seed.

CURLEY AFTER JOHNSON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Sailing on the American line steamer St. Louis today, Jack Curley, who is promoting the proposed fight between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard, expects to get Johnson's signature to articles of agreement in London. Curley will meet Johnson there and expects to close the deal. He expects Johnson to ask $30,000 and fifty per cent of the picture privileges. Curley said he was willing to meet this figure and that several places already put in bids for the fight.

CLABBY CLAIMS MIDDLE TITLE

Hammond Fighter Claims Middleweight Title of the World Through Decision Last Night Over Chip

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—Jimmy Clabby, of Hammond, Ind., announced today that he would claim the world's middleweight championship as the result of his twenty round decision last night over George Chip.

The battle, the last important match which will be held in California before boxing is killed, was hard fought throughout. Clabby displayed superior science at all stages and was never in any danger. He hit Chip apparently whenever he wished. Chip was aggressive but could not hit his opponent with effect.

HARVARD FAVORITE IN ANNUAL BATTLE

The Crimson Rules 2 to 1 Favorites in the Annual Game at Cambridge; Both Teams Confident

BY HAL SHERIDAN
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 3.—By land and by sea Princeton invaded the haunts of John Harvard today for the annual football game in the stadium. Besides the hundreds that came by way of the New Haven there were 800 sons of Nassau who came via the old Fall River line. Near 40,000 are expected to witness the big battle, every seat in the big horseshoe and the "bleachers" at the open end having been sold days ago.

Harvard Favorite
Harvard was a 2 to 1 favorite today. The Tiger supporters, teemed with glee and mirth at being on the short end of the betting, for it ever there was a confident bunch it is this invading crew from jungle town. There isn't one among them who would not bet his shirt that the Tiger team will tear and rip and claw its way to a victory.

Both coaches will throw their strongest lineups into the game at the start. For Harvard, Penneck will be at guard, Hardwick at right end and the speedy Mahan at half-back. Francke, Hardwick and Bradlee will do the punting. Mahan's foot will be nursed along until Old Man Opportunity knocks at Harvard's door with a chance at a field goal.

With all their confidence, Princeton's cohorts admit that today's task will be no easy one, and they are praying for a Sammy White, or a Poe to come out of a scrimmage with a fumbled ball hugged to his arms and an open field in front of him.

Princeton Players Numbered
Princeton's players will be numbered so the spectators can tell who's who in spite of the fact that staid old Harvard has frowned upon the innovation.

YOSTS AND PENN IN ANNUAL GAME

Wolverines and Pennsylvania in Tenth Yearly Battle; Easterners Slight Favorites

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 7.—For the tenth time Michigan and Pennsylvania meet on the gridiron this afternoon. Long before the hour for the game this little university city was crowded with frenzied fans, hundreds of alumni of the two universities having come for the big annual fray. Early estimates placed the crowd at 25,000, the largest that ever witnessed a game on Ferry field.

The Quakers were to arrive here from Detroit just in time for the game.

Betting on the contest was brisk this morning, most of the bets being placed at even money. With the arrival of the easterners, however, Pennsy is expected to be a six to five favorite.

HANDBALL YESTERDAY

NORMAL BEATEN BY RIVER FALLS

Superior Line Work of the Northerners Beats the La Crosse Team; Lose by Two Touchdowns

LA CROSSE MAKES FIRST SCORE

Forward Pass in First to Byers Sends Ball Over Goal; Line Plunges Result in Score

Through the superior work yesterday of the River Falls forwards, La Crosse Normal school was beaten by the northerners and its chances for the state title dissipated. The final score stood 27 to 14 in favor of the River Falls team.

La Crosse scored first in the first period when a forward pass from Strum to Byers carried the ball over the goal line. La Fromboise kicked the score. The score was made in less than five minutes of play. A recovered fumble by Strum on the River Falls 12 yard line in the last quarter followed by a series of line smashes by Dickens and Immel sent Immel over for the second and last La Crosse point. Dickens kicked goal.

River Falls scored once in the first and second quarters and twice in the third. They were played to a standstill by La Crosse in the last quarter.

Score by quarters:
La Crosse 7 0 0 7—14
River Falls 7 13 0—27

The band and a loyal bunch of rooters met the team when they returned at eleven o'clock last night. The state normal school title now lies between River Falls, champions of the northern division and the winner of the game today between Whitewater and Oshkosh of the southern division. The game will probably be played at River Falls next Saturday.

The lineup was as follows:
Normal—Erickson, le; Wachter, lt; Marcou, lg; Toby, c; LaFromboise, rg; Dickens, rt; Byers, re; Strum, qb; Immel, fb; Sorgill, (Capt.), rh; Oliver, lb.

River Falls—Richard, le; Perkins, lt; Kuenning, lg; Burger, c; O'Connell, rg; Dawson, rt; Keenan, re; Schutte, qb; Brown, (Capt.), fb; Keith, rh; Miller, lb.

Referee—Pettijohn of Minnesota.

AMERICANS MAY SLICE PAYROLLS

Younger League to Discuss Expediency of Reducing Player Limit at Meeting Next Spring

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Reduction of the player limit from 25 to 20 and reduction of prices to world's series games will be considered at the spring meeting of the American league, it was understood today, following adjournment of a two day session of the league here.

Two or three American league owners were outspoken in favor of cutting expenses by carrying fewer men, but the subject went over for consideration. The National league will be asked its views on the subject of cutting world's series prices.

BRAVES PICKED FOR NEXT YEAR

Experts Consider Present Champions of the Class to Continue Their Winning Streak

SPELL OF ATHLETICS BROKEN

Red Sox Expected to Show Up Strong Next Year Together with the St. Louis Browns

By HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The most human thing the Philadelphia Athletics have done in the last couple of years was to take a licking from the Boston Braves. It wasn't a thumping as a result of which doubt might be expressed, but a good sound thrashing, and this means much in the general consideration of what may happen in the American league during the season of 1915.

The winter league outlook is that Boston has an excellent chance of having a corner on the world's series next year. The spell of the Mack-men has been broken. It doesn't take any superhuman efforts to turn the trick either—just an aggressive attack with a sting in every blow and a defense that refuses to admit it is punctured. The Boston Braves showed that in a series lasting four games. Over a stretch of 154 games, the wallop of the Athletics must of course, assert itself to more effect, but the threatening gestures against Connie Mack's grabbing another pennant are coming from Boston, just as the threats and then the wallop came from that direction for McGraw and the Giants in the National league this year.

The Red Sox have all that could be desired in the pitching line. Their infield was strengthened when Hoblitzel was planted at first and now compares favorably with the best of them. Nothing is lacking in the outfield and Tris Speaker stands out as the particular terror in the attack.

Walter Johnson Due

As good as Clark Griffith's Washington collection looked during last year's winter session, they failed to put the expected dent in proceedings. They kept themselves in the fight, but their threats were never dangerous. Had Johnson breezed through with as big a year as he showed for 1913, Washington would have been a dangerous proposition. Next year the great speed merchant should swing back again.

Hughes Jennings has yet to whip his Detroit Tigers into the speed necessary to carry them to a position of real contenders since his unhorsing after the string of triple victories. In case of a grand scramble among the four leading clubs the Tigers should cut a big figure in 1915, however.

The remaining four clubs of the Johnson circuit are more or less colorless. The White Sox have catered along with about the same zeal and the same brand of ball. The Cleveland Naps broke all records for ability to sink so deep that there was no chance of anyone getting beneath them. While a long string of automobiles stood outside the ball park, the owners of the cars romped care free and spiritless on the field in taking their daily licking. The St. Louis Browns have revived from the Browns of a couple of years back and carried their fight along with much gusto for a time, and will offer a scrap on most any old occasion.

The power has been lacking there, however.

A regular manager must be picked up for the New York Yanks before the season opens. Roger Peckinpaugh did the piloting during the latter games of this year after Frank Chance packed his belongings and fled. Some believe Roger may be given an opportunity to continue his job during next season. Under present conditions Peck is welcome to the task.

Dog Spooks.

The phantom dog specter was one of the hardest of old English superstitions. Almost every county had its black dog which haunted its lonely spots and was the dread of every native. Most of them were regarded as devils, but some were held to be the spirits of human beings, transformed thus as a punishment. Lady Howard, a Devon notable of the days of James I., for instance, was said to be compelled to haunt Okehampton in the form of a dog as a punishment for her cruelty to her daughter.

STAGE SET FOR BIG GAME TODAY

Sparta Rooters Appear in Strength at Normal Field with Their Two Bands; Cheering Enthusiastic

DAY IDEAL FOR BIG ENCOUNTER

La Crosse Rooters Turn Out as They Never Did Before in Their Red and Black Rooting Caps

Shortly before 3 o'clock today, La Crosse and Sparta clashed in the biggest game seen in La Crosse for some time. The outcome of the game means a claim for the state championship of the winner.

The largest crowd in the history of high school athletics in La Crosse filled into the big enclosure at the normal school field at the Interstate fair grounds, completely filling the bleachers and screaming out in a long line along the sidelines and either ends of the field. Efforts of the police to hold the crowd back failed.

The Sparta bands with their delegation of five hundred strong marched to the field after a parade through the downtown streets. Their cheering rivaled that of the thousand strong La Crosse rooting section. Sparta, fresh from one of the biggest mass meetings ever held in Sparta, held the stage for several minutes after their appearance at the field.

The day was ideal for the clash. A moderate northwest breeze gave the right football tinge to the air, making the rooters huddle in groups. The field was in the best of shape for the encounter.

Hundreds of high school students appeared on the field in their red and black rooting caps. The colors of the hats lent novelty to the dull background of the grandstand and bleachers. Cheerleader Jack Robinson was on deck with his repertoire of antics.

The teams trotted onto the field shortly after 2 o'clock and were sent through snappy signal drills. Both teams appeared to be in the best of shape. Sparta presented a new lineup with Hoffman at quarter in place of Almer, who is out of the game with a wrenched knee.

WESTERN ELEVEN TAKE REST TODAY

Watch Doings at Ann Arbor Where Wolverines and Penn Stage Annual Battle

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—No games of championship calibre were on the western conference football program for today and the west generally took a day off to observe the doings at Ann Arbor, where Michigan engaged in her second inter-sectional struggle of the year with Pennsylvania.

Ohio State and Indiana universities met at Indianapolis and the result of this bout probably will determine who will hold sixth place in the "Big Nine" this year. Iowa was expected to overwhelm Northwestern at Evanston.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 7.—Coach Juneau's men returned to secret practice at Camp Randall Thursday afternoon. The coaching staff is still drilling the men in Minnesota plays, and with any kind of luck the Badgers should be in trim for a victory over the Gophers on Nov. 14.

Kreuz, who was kept out of scrimmage during the first part of the week, has recovered from his injury sufficiently to get back to practice. Mucks and McMaster, who were battered in the Chicago game, are still out of it, but are confidently expected they will be in shape to return to the grind within a few days.

A consignment of tickets for the Minnesota game is due to arrive in Madison Saturday. It is expected that an unusually large number of Badger rooters will take the trip to Minneapolis this year.
